

Christians, Jews and Muslims Build Habitat House Together

Christian, Jewish and Muslim congregations worked together to build a four-bedroom, two-bathroom Habitat for Humanity home in Atlanta for Wahabi and Rafat Saluwu and their three children. There were eleven (11) multi-faith partners, who worked and worshipped together to show God's love in action. After seven weeks of construction, the home was dedicated on December 2, 2007 with the Rev. Charles Black participating.

FPC volunteers include Chip and Sean Bullock, Joe Few, Daniell Gilbert, Austin and Rick Gitomer, Steele Hays, Jenny McDaniel, Doug Orr, Don Piper, John K. Smith, Rene and Terry Tveraas, Jim Wise, and John Webster.

This is the third Habitat house built in 2007 by First Presbyterian. If you would like to volunteer to work with others on Habitat homes in 2008, please contact Bill Earnest at (404) 351-8030 or at williammearnest@yahoo.com.
